

Ahmed and Mohammed worked on developing and debugging the mono resampling functions, multithreading and the RDS path.

Hushaam and Syed worked on developing and debugging the RF front end, the stereo audio path and the RDS path.

The group collaborated when testing or debugging major blocks of the project, especially when running live tests.

Completion: Fully functional 4 modes for stereo and mono, all tested live. RDS is nearly completely modelled in Python.